Short Learning Programme in ENTREPRENEURIAL SKILLS

BACKGROUND

The Small Business Advisory Bureau is an institute of the North-West University (Potchefstroom Campus). The SBAB was established in 1970 to provide advisory and training services to the independent business sector. In addition to academic qualifications, the Bureau consultants also have extensive practical experience in a wide range of business sectors.

The SBAB has presented the Programme since 1986 to the SMME sector, over the years the course has been adapted to meet the specific needs of emerging entrepreneurs, business owners and the unemployed youth in South Africa. The course is exceptionally practical, applicable, and widely accepted in the market.

PURPOSE

To empower the SMME sector in South Africa. To make people who want to start their own business aware of the concept of entrepreneurship, to assist in establishing an entrepreneurial culture and to encourage entrepreneurs and the youth to consider self-employment by establishing their own business as a viable career option.

The curriculum intends to draw prospective entrepreneurs' attention to various business opportunities, the factors influencing the establishment and managing of an independent business, the unique problems facing business owners and methods of preventing or solving such problems. Existing theories regarding the management and operation of a business will be addressed, but the emphasis during the presentation will be on the practical application of the theories to be able to determine the viability of an existing or a new business and to compile a business plan for the business.

PRESENTATION PERIOD

Consists of a compulsory two (2)-week study school (Monday to Friday). Two intakes are presented annually in Potchefstroom, starting in March and September. If a group of people from an organisation want to attend the course it can be presented anywhere in South Africa if the number of participants justifies the presentation to recover the costs. The programme is also offered on an e-learning basis.

EVALUATION

Participants are expected to submit practical assignments after each study school for a POE. These assignments must be submitted on predetermined dates. Participants also write an examination related to the subjects presented. Examinations are written annually in July and November. These examinations can either be written in Potchefstroom or online. Assignments and examinations for an outside group of people will be negotiated with the organisation.
