

Theo Kocken (1964) is a professor of Risk Management at VU University Amsterdam (Netherlands), extraordinary professor at North-West University, founder of the Anglo-Dutch pension investment and risk management firm, and chairman of the Cardano Development Foundation (based in Amsterdam), which focusses on risk-management solutions in frontier markets to improve local currency finance and financial inclusion. Before founding Cardano, he was Head of Market Risk at ING Bank and Rabobank. He graduated in Business Administration (1990), Econometrics (1993), and received his PhD at VU University Amsterdam (2006). Over the past 25 years, he has published many books and articles on risk management, pension fund design and financial markets. He also uses alternative media. Together with Monty Python's Terry Jones, Theo produced the documentary "Boom Bust Boom" on financial crises and how human behaviour is at the roots of economic phenomena. He is currently working on an international documentary about the worldwide increase in longevity and how to cope with it.

Prestige Lecture

Prof. Theo Kocken

Programme

23 October 2019

11:00

Prestige Lecture

by

Prof. Theo Kocken

Extraordinary Professor

in

Preparing for a happy 100-year life

on

23 October 2019
11:00

at

North-West University
Vaal Triangle Campus
Vanderbijlpark
Building 24
Executive Boardroom

Programme

PROCESSION

(please rise as procession enters)

WORD OF WELCOME

Prof. Herman van der Merwe

Deputy Dean: Teaching and Learning

PRESTIGE LECTURE

Prof. Theo Kocken

Preparing for a happy 100-year life

CLOSE OF CEREMONY

Prof. Hermien Zaaiman

Programme Leader: Enhancing Risk Culture

REFRESHMENTS

Optentia House

Building 22